Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 29 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain spreading east tonight. Heavy showers in the north Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Outbreaks of rain spreading east across the region overnight, clearing all but East Sussex and Kent by Friday morning. Dry and largely sunny by morning elsewhere, but becoming breezy along south coastal areas, with cloud building in the west. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Friday:
Rain soon clearing Kent to leave bright or sunny intervals and showers, heavier in the north. Drier in the south but windy, with gales for a time in coastal parts. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A mixture of sunny spells and showers, widespread and heavier on Saturday but rather isolated on Sunday and Monday. Largely dry and clear by night. Temperatures close to average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.